Renault Trucks launch new generation of the Renault Master

AB Volvo's subsidiary Renault Trucks is continuing its light commercial vehicle cooperation with Renault with the launch of a new generation of the Renault Master. The new Renault Master will be sold through the Renault Trucks dealer network in Europe.

The market launch will begin in European markets from April 2010 onwards. Within the Renault-Renault Trucks cooperation, the new Renault Master vans will continue to be built at the Renault plant SOVAB (Société des Véhicules Automobiles de Batilly), located in Batilly, France.

“The new Renault Master, with its front and rear wheel drive versions, will perfectly complement our current range of Light and Heavy Duty vehicles,” says Jean-Marc Lange, Vice President Light Commercial Vehicles Business, Renault Trucks.
